Biography

"I was born in Oodnadatta and I went to school there. When I was a young lady I was working to clean homes for people at the station. Today I'm painting the tjukurpa (traditional stories) of country that I remember, and what my family taught me. These are the paintings about my special country from a long time ago."

Translation by Vicki Cullinan

"I love painting at the art centre. I was raised in the bush the old ways, but I raised my family at Coober Pedy and Indulkana. My daughter is a great painter now also. Painting helps to keep our culture strong and our young people are learning all the time watching us work in the studio."
