Biography

Mukayi Baker was an Ernabella Anangu School teacher for many years. She retired in 2012 in order to look after family and paint at the Art Centre. Mukayi is now a full time painter and tjampi weaver. She paints the important Pitja story from the western APY lands.

Mukayi's paintings have been exhibited many times across Australia, including in Tjunga Warkarintja: Fifteen Years at Sabbia Gallery, Sydney, and in Family at Signal Point Regional Gallery, South Australia. Her art has been acquired for the collections at City of Melville, WA and University of Newcastle, NSW.

Mukayi is also a Ngangkari or traditional Anangu healer.
