Biography

Sally Lane is an artist belonging to the Ngaanyatjarra language and cultural group and lives between Warburton, WA and Tjirrkarli, an outstation near the remote community of Warburton, WA. Tjirrkarli takes its name from a nearby sacred site associated with the Tjirrkarli (Native Yam) Dreaming. Sally makes both baskets and animal sculptures. She has a signature style with her animal sculptures, incorporating flatter '2D' elements into her 3D works. Sally attends Tjanpi skills development workshops in Warburton and says she likes singing with other ladies and making Tjanpi. Sally also paints canvas and makes punu. Tjanpi Desert Weavers (Tjanpi meaning 'wild grass') is an award-winning, Indigenous governed and directed social enterprise of the Ngaanyatjarra, Pitjantjatjara and Yankunytjatjara Women's Council (NPYWC). Tjanpi empowers over 400 women across a 350 000 square km area of the tri-state region of NT, SA and WA to earn an income and remain in their communities on Country.
